mountain ousted vegetation, belonging to the Sintra-Cascais Natural Park.

This quiet mountain village is home to landscapes of great beauty, framing the surrounding green of the magnificent Serra de Sintra, with the endless blue of the Atlantic Ocean.

The rural architecture of the village rises and falls on the slope where it is located, incorporating stone houses and whitewashed, to enjoy a total peace of mind in this preserved landscape.

The splendid houses that have been born in the area in recent years are always based on the preservation of the landscape.
